DID YOU KNOW...

The hardness of the Cu-Be is 40% higher than the Al-Bron, so it wears less and has a 40% longer life.

The Cu-Be alloy is safer than Al-Bron because its sparks have less energy. Cu-Be is especially recommended in atmospheres listed under the IIC group.

For environments with acetylene, EGA Master has developed a new alloy called ACETILEX®. This is the only safe option in environments with acetylene (it has less than 65% of copper in its composition, thus it's safe).
